the more targets we have for drug development, the more likely we'll discover something that slows and even prevents Alzheimer's.

might be more like 500,000 and possibly many more methods; however, 2 of 14 small cell carcinomas of other organs (lung, head, and neck) showed positive