until now, most observers have concluded that the balance spun out of control with the premature death of levant's closest friend, george gershwin the cornerstone of psychiatry's disease model today is the theory that a brain-based, chemical imbalance causes mental illness of course, it's not uncommon for husbands and wives to sign each other's checks -- maybe he knew about it